

We want to hear from you!

The City of Toronto has contracted Gerstein Crisis Centre, as a leader in Community-based Crisis Response in our City, to help them hear from you about how Toronto could improve non-police crisis responses for our communities.

Have you ever reached out for help when you were in crisis?

Do you access supports to assist you with concerns around your mental health or substance use or do you live with these concerns without the supports you would hope for?

Do you live with another disability, cognitive challenges and or an Acquired Brain Injury along with concerns around your mental health?

It is important that voices of people living with experiences of Mental Health and Substance Use help guide this discussion.
