

Elections Canada: Who Should Consider Voting by Mail?

Consider voting by mail if:

- You are part of a vulnerable population;
- You are a student away from home;
- You know you will be outside of your riding during advance or election day polls and prefer not to vote early at an Elections Canada office.

Please Note:

Apply to vote by mail as soon as possible.

Your local Elections Canada office must receive your completed online or in-person special ballot application by the deadline: Tuesday, September 14, 6:00 p.m local time.

If your application is approved, you will receive a special ballot voting kit.

Plan ahead. Make sure your marked special ballot will get to your local Elections Canada office by the deadline: election day September 20, 2021, before the polls close in your riding.

Once you apply to vote by mail, this is the only way you can vote. You cannot vote at a polling place. You can vote only once per election.
